FUNERAL SERVICES FOR CALVIN, JR. HELD AT THE OLD HOME

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., July 10. Funeral services for Calvin Coolidge, Jr., were held in the little church where he took his first communion. Dr. Kenneth H. Wells, pastor of Edwards Congregational church, conducted the services. Mrs. Coolidge maintained her composure. The church was packed with old friends. The entire town, where the Coolidges used to live, is in mourning. The body was taken to Plymouth for burial.

By MILTON MacKAYE
NORTHAMPTON, Mass., July 10.—The Coolidges were among their own people today. They have brought their dead son home.

The presidential special which has borne the body of Calvin Coolidge, Jr. from Washington arrived here at 7 o'clock this morning with the executive family, a dozen intimate friends and the members of the Cabinet aboard.

Half Northampton met the train at the station—a quiet crowd, awed by the tragedy which has visited the city's one time Mayor and yet curious to see the imposing corps of State officials who escorted him here.

They peered timidly at the long line of coaches as the dusty train drew in. But if only half Northampton greeted the Washington special, all Northampton prepared for the funeral. It was held at Edwards Congregational church at 9 a. m. A thousand flags hung at half mast, store windows showed drawn shades, the town fathers have decreed this a day of mourning.

Flowers were banded high at the church at an early hour. The doors were open to all and even before the body of young Coolidge had been moved from the station, the town people had begun to fill the pews.

The President and Mrs. Coolidge arose before the train entered the station after passing a reasonably good night.

They retired shortly after leaving Baltimore last night in an effort to gain strength for the day's ordeal. Together with their elder son, John, they were quartered in the final coach of the train.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Stearns, intimate friends of the presidential party and James F. Couper, White House physician, shared the same car.

Mrs. Coolidge showed sharp lines of weariness in her face today.

Breakfast was served to the family in their car. Shortly afterward they were joined by William M. Butler of Boston, chairman of the Republican National Committee and Henry F. Long, secretary to the President when he was Governor of Massachusetts.

The funeral train made good time on its journey through Baltimore, Philadelphia, the New Jersey cities and New York. The schedule had been advanced to avoid curious eyes and making the trip as private as possible.

All night the lights burned in the parlor of that rear car where the President's son lay. Three marines with rifles at attention stood guard at the rose covered bier.

The President, Mrs. Coolidge and John went to their old "double house" on Massachussetts avenue here. It is the dwelling where young Calvin was born 16 years ago.

The Coolidge family then occupied half the house and paid a rental of $35 a month. Today it remains in the ownership of the family. Mrs. Andrew Goodhue, mother of Mrs. Coolidge, lives there.

Colonel John Coolidge, the President's father, waited within the house for the family. He had come over from his farm near Plymouth to join the funeral party and probably accompany it back to Washington.

The elder Coolidge is 79, but a life time upon the farm has left him straight, strong and tanned. The boy Calvin was his closest friend during the past few years.

Each summer since he reached the teens, the White House youngster had come to help harvest his crops. This year he had planned to repeat the performance but his father said he should attend the Camp Devens military training camp.

The casket was moved shortly before 3:30 and taken direct to the Edwards Congregational church. A marine guard marched behind.

LITTLE CALVIN.

CALVIN COOLIDGE, JR.

They are burying little Calvin today—little Calvin, the President's son. Calvin was a lad of sixteen, proud that his father was President, glad that his mother was the President's wife, eager in all the ways of a boy. But death, which is presumed to pursue the old, does not exempt the young. Death lurked beside little Calvin's path, trod in his footsteps and followed him home, to the big house, one day. And now they are burying little Calvin—little Calvin, the President's son. All the Nation stands sorrowing by the open grave, and all the people's hearts pulsate in sympathy with two parents bowed down. There is no partisanship, no rancor, at little Calvin's funeral; just grief among the people who see their President and their President's wife sub-shaken at little Calvin's bier.—State Press.

With Fingers Crossed And Colors Flying Went Down for McAdoo

NEW YORK, July 10.—In the excitement following Davis' nomination, protests of three Oregon delegates that Davis' nomination was not unanimous, was not heard by Chairman Walsh. A written protest was sent to Walsh which stated that the secretary is requested to "register our names on the last ballot as voting for William G. McAdoo."

MAYBE SHE HAD BEEN EATING HIS PAINT

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, July 10.—J. M. Williams is puzzled over two blue eggs he found in one of his chicken coops here. The eggs are tinted a faint blue and streak off into white. Williams doesn't know whether one of his Rhode Island red hens laid the blue eggs or whether some joker painted the eggs and put them in the coop. Williams is a paint contractor and believes the hen might have taken on some of the environment of color to produce the colored eggs.

The Mexia Daily News belongs to the people of Mexia, and to the people that support it, not to any group, order or denomination. We have many friends among all classes and we appreciate them and are glad at all times to please them in way that is possible, but any one trying to spread their propaganda at our expense, professing friendship for this institution will not be permitted by me if I know it. Every person has their idea politically and spend their own money for their privilege to vote at the polls, which they have a perfect right to do in free America. For anyone to make a false statement against a clean commercial newspaper that tries to be fair and print the news as it is, makes us feel that the party that would make such a statement has been unfair to us. We are always glad to print both sides of every question that concerns the welfare of our people, but we do refuse to print some articles that people write wanting us to assume all responsibility of the attacks they make on public questions. Conditions Now Are Normal In Brazil

RIO DE JANEIRO, July 10.—News was eagerly awaited here early today of the final defeat of the military rebels which have held a part of the city of Sao Paulo since last Saturday.

It was expected the remaining rebel position would fall today, if it has not yet been captured.

"Legal troops sent against the rebels in Sao Paulo now are in full operation with the supreme command perfectly organized," says the latest official communique.

"The situation of the insurrectionists becomes more and more critical. Normal communication between the city of Sao Paulo and Santos has been restored and there is nothing to interfere with free movement of the people in the district.

"The lines of the Central De Brazil Railway (connecting Rio de Janeiro with Sao Paulo) were interrupted between Mogi and Sao Paulo but have been reestablished and the entire system is in operation again practically on normal basis.

"The Luz military barracks is the only point in Sao Paulo left in the hands of the enemy."

Dallas Democrats Pleased With The Selection of Davis

DALLAS, Texas, July 10.—Selection of John W. Davis as Democratic presidential nominee meets with the approval of Dallas Democrats generally, according to their statements today. Frank W. Wozencraft, former mayor and delegate at large to the convention this year said he was "highly jubilant" over the nomination of Davis.

The nominee also meets with the approval of Dr. A. C. Carter, cyclops of Dallas Klan No. 68 who said Davis "holds the middle ground and is not so positive in the extremes represented by either Smith or McAdoo."

Labor leaders declared Texas workers would "support the ticket."

FOURTEEN DOLLARS PER CAPITA FOR NEXA YEARS SCHOOLS

HON. LYNCH DAVIDSON SPEAKS TO EXTRA LARGE CROWD HERE

Lynch Davidson, candidate for Governor of Texas, spoke here Wednesday night to what was universally agreed as the largest crowd to hear a political speaker, being estimated at 2,000 people. On the platform with him were Mr. Brodnax, Mr. Willie Miller and Dr. B. B. Jackson. The latter in his usual easy manner introduced the speaker, bringing his life and career down from the time of his birth out at Honest Ridge, through his boyhood days when he was a sheep herder, a laborer handling lumber and clerk in several different stores.

Mr. Davidson, in his speech, covered the issues and needs of the day in a most able manner. He proposed to economize in many different ways thereby saving the taxpayers of Texas vast amounts of money that they have been heretofore paying. One thing, Mr. Davidson strongly advocated was to put more business in Government and less government in business and he knew when that was done our state would be in much better condition in many respects.

JAMES M. COX WAS THE MOSES OF THE LOCKED CONVENTION

NEW YORK, July 10.—In a sunlit room on the twelfth floor of the Waldorf Hotel, free from the reek of stale cigars and without perspiring politicians in their shirt sleeves, the nomination of John W. Davis as Democratic standard bearer was made possible.

A medium sized man, close knit, alert, immaculate, dressed for business, his keen gray eyes peering intently from behind a pair of nose glasses and his stream of callers made that nomination possible. That man was James M. Cox, of Ohio, until today the titular leader of the Democratic party.

A candidate himself who had gone down to defeat by seven million majority—the largest in history—after making a "crusade" for the League of Nations, Cox put aside personal ambitions and the human desire to show the world that he could "come back" when he saw his party in the throes of the bitterest factional feud in its history. He came to New York on Monday bearing the olive branch and he succeeded in restoring harmony among the warring elements.

On Saturday night, an appeal was made to Cox to use his good offices to break the deadlock between McAdoo and Smith. But his supporters told him that he could be nominated. On Sunday night the futile attempt at a compromise was made. When word of the result reached him, Cox hesitated no longer. He forgot all but party harmony and came.

Cox came not in the interest of any candidate. He came merely as a peacemaker without a string tied to him. But, after looking over the field, he eliminated them all; but Davis as the man on whom all could agree. Senator Glass of Virginia and Senator Walsh of Montana, were the last to be cut off his list.

When he arrived Monday morning Cox issued a general invitation to Democrats to consult him. The leaders came—George Brennan of Illinois; Tom Taggart of Indiana; Ed Moore of Ohio; Cordell Hall of Tennessee; Pat Harrison of Mississippi—but they were not the ones he came to see. He wanted to confer with the delegates who were to make the nomination.

The rank and file began to come in to consult with their titular leader. Cox began with the men and women of his own Ohio delegation. As he pleaded for harmony, they gradually came around to his way of thinking. Encouraged with his success he began to plead with others, groups and individuals.

"Davis, Davis, Davis," Cox drummed the name into the consciousness of all with whom he came in contact. Many, particularly the so-called leaders, thought that Davis was "shop worn" with the convention, that he "started" too soon and could not possibly go over the top.

Cox thought differently. He patiently extolled Davis' virtues to the men and women who came. He wanted to see the women particularly, for Cox, a master politician, realized the power of the women vote. He spoke of Davis' intellectual capacity and honesty, his courage, called attention to the fact that he was a Wilson Democrat and an exponent of the League of Nations and expressed the conviction that Davis would appeal to the whole country.

Cox started his conferences Monday morning and did not remove his clothes or rest until 5 a. m. Wednesday. By that time he had talked to enough delegates to make sure that Davis would go over. Then he went to bed.

The result, which started with Ohio swinging 23 votes to Davis, has convinced the Democratic leaders that Cox was right in his estimate of the situation.

The Democratic convention was not bossless but it was unbiased. While Cox was at work the bosses did not know what was going on.

The Old Veterans Are Passing Away

AUSTIN, Texas, July 10.—The fact that old soldiers of the south are rapidly dying out was brought forth with the announcement by the state treasury department that the highest pension in the history of the state will be paid August 31. The decrease in the number of Confederate Veterans to 15,000 means an increase of $2 in each quarterly payment, bringing the total up to $34.

NEBRASKA GOV'OR NAMED FOR VICE ON FIRST BALLOT

By ROBERT J. BENDER
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
NEW YORK, July 10.—John W. Davis of West Virginia for President and Charles W. Bryan of Nebraska for Vice President.

That Democratic ticket, coupling the conservative East with the progressive West was brought out of the most bitterly contested convention in political history at 2:25 a. m. today.

The nomination of the Nebraska Governor was forced by a coterie of Democratic leaders, after he had been selected, personally, by Davis as his running mate. It came on the first ballot, furnishing a curious anticlimax to the fierce battle over the presidential nomination, which ended in a compromise on the 103rd ballot late yesterday afternoon.

Selection of Bryan was made only after the Democrats had been twice turned down by progressive candidates for the vice presidency. Senator Walsh of Montana, Davis' first choice, in a letter to the convention formally refused the offer stating he could best serve his party by running for re-election to the Senate. The name of Edwin T. Meredith of Iowa was withdrawn after he had of Iowa to run with Davis on the ground that he was too conservative to appeal to the agricultural West.

Davis was unwilling to accept any of the nine candidates who had been nominated formally. A recess of one hour was called at midnight while Davis went into conference with leaders at the historic Democratic rendezvous, the Mannattian Club, across the street from Madison Square Garden.

When Bryan was finally hit upon, Chairman Cordell Hull, Tom Taggart, Senator Pat Harrison and other leaders, bearheaded, rushed back to the Garden to get Bryan's acceptance. He met them at the door and speedily gave his consent. It was necessary to place him in nomination and Harry B. Feherty was rounded up to name him. Bryan himself told his sponsors to make his speech "short and snappy." Feherty complied and the balloting began.

Worn out by two weeks' bickering and strife and three hours of oratory during the fore part of the evening, hundreds of the delegates had departed for home. The galleries were all but deserted. Less than 500 spectators remained of the vast crowd that jammed the galleries to give Governor Al Smith of New York, their hero, a thunderous ovation and Davis, who appeared by invitation, a cordial welcome. Most of the delegates' seats were filled by "ringers."

Chairman Walsh had turned the gavel over to Representative Barkley of Kentucky, who had great difficulty in controlling the crowd after the balloting got under way. But the din that marked the earlier sessions was gone. Voices rang out clear and sharp in the huge hall.

Humorists made the balloting more difficult. They voted for men and women whose names were unfamiliar to the tally clerks.

Bryan got away slowly until the word was passed that he was Davis' choice.

After casting half of the Illinois vote for Mayor Hylan of New York as a compliment, George E. Brennan of Illinois led the switching which ended in Bryan amassing a total of 739 votes, more than the necessary two-thirds. He was followed by Franklin D. Roosevelt who cast New York's 90 votes solidly for Bryan. Then Mayor Frank Hague of Jersey City whipped his delegation into the line and the landslide was on.

George L. Berry of Tennessee, the soldier-labor candidate, was off to a running start. He finished with 204, when the switching ended. But the soldier-labor crowd, aided by a rowdy bunch that the police finally ejected from the hall, kept up a constant cry

Both Sides Get A Square Deal

AUSTIN, Texas, July 10.—The four year Texas statute of limitations applies on claims by shippers for over charges and by railroads for under charges, the attorney general department has ruled. The federal laws apply in all claims growing out of interstate commerce, however, the ruling said.

Assistant attorney general Seagler added in the opinion "that it is very doubtful in our minds as to whether the railroad commission has jurisdiction over limitation questions."

DEAD MAN'S SOUL ENTERS BIRD, LINER'S TARS SAY

LOS ANGELES, July 10.—There is a superstition of the deep that when a seaman dies his soul enters the body of a gull.

The superstition assumed a new color when the Panama Pacific liner Manchuria arrived here from New York bearing the body of one of her men and, in an adjoining cabin, a bird of brilliant plumage, which mysteriously came out of the air the morning after the man died.

It was while the Manchuria was far off the coast of Mexico that Cornelius Van Ree, assistant baker, died. A few hours later the bird appeared.

Members of the Manchuria's crew say their new mascot is the reincarnation of Van Ree, and that it came in some other form than a gull because the dead man was not a seaman.

GLASSES FOR EVERYBODY

An eminent English eye specialist, in a recent report in New York to the National Committee for the Prevention of Blindness, is quoted as saying that, within the next century, every person in the United States will be wearing glasses.

And there is reason to believe that this prediction may become true so rapidly and intelligently is educational work as to the need of glasses being done.

It is an established fact that two-thirds of all the people of adult age need glasses now, although many of them do not yet realize it.

Demands on the eyesight are growing greater and more exacting all the time, as science and invention are creating new occupations.

People still are "abusing their eyes" in various ways, one notable way being by subjecting them too much to the strain of "the movies." Screen making and screen seeing are both doing things to the eyes, the grave danger of which does not appear to be realized.

The most important aspect of this subject is that which relates to the eyesight of children, both below and in the "teen age." More and more of them are being supplied with glasses in time to prevent or correct serious eye trouble for them as adults.

SAYS MODERN GIRLS ARE SALVES TO POWDER PUFF

(By International News Service) LONDON, July 9.—Modern girls are slaves to the powder puff, according to Lady Richmond Brown, noted woman explorer.

"Too many of the girls of today," said Lady Brown, "have become dolls. Our girls during the war were capable, but I do not think the girl of the present day is made of the right sort—certainly not the girl of the night club and the dance hall."

"Girls who live in the colonies and those who live in the open-air life of the country have more of the independent, self-relying spirit that is needed today."

ONE MAN NOW DOES WORK HUNDREDS USED TO DO

Advances in invention and industrial methods and practices since 1800 have enabled production to increase to meet the needs of the people of this country in a manner that has never been equaled in the world.

The production per day per man has increased during the period as follows:

Iron, from 500 pounds to 5,000 pounds.

Lumber from 100 feet to 750 feet.

Nails from 5 pounds to 500 pounds. Shoes from one-fourth to one pair to 10 pairs. Coal from one-half ton to 4 tons. Paper from 20 square feet to 200 square feet.

The class one railroads of America last year moved commodities aggregating 423,000,000 ton-miles with 1,800,000 employees. Under transportation methods of 1800 this movement would have required 70,000,000 drivers and 140,000,000 horses.

REMARKABLE NEW BLOOD DISCOVERIES ARE MADE

(By International News Service) LONDON, July 10.—Remarkable and far-reaching discoveries about the human blood have been made as a result of recent researches, according to scientific authorities.

It is stated that tests initiated shortly after the World War have conclusively proved that the human race is divided into, roughly, four main blood groups, and that this discovery will have a very important bearing on blood transfusion, an operation which is becoming more and more frequent in cases of dire necessity.

Scientists also believe that the new discovery may throw fresh light on the ancestry of man, and will also possibly have some bearing on the proving or disproving of legitimacy.

for Berry. Although Colonel Alvin M. Owsley, former commander of the American Legion, was withdrawn by Texas, he finished with 16 votes. Bennett Clark, son of the late Speaker Champ Clark of Missouri, had a total of 41 and Mrs. Leroy Springs of South Carolina 18. Others who stuck to the end were Governor Glynn, Rhode Island 16; Governor Silzer, New Jersey 8; Former Ambassador Gerard, 10; Mayor Hylan, 6; Newton D. Baker 7; Senator Pittman, Nevada, 6 and Jonathan M. Davis, Kansas, 5. The rest of the votes were scattered.

Several times before the necessary two-thirds was reached motions were made to nominate Bryan by acclamation. These suggestions were greeted by boos and hisses from the Berry supporters. The crowd was restless and continually called to Barkley to announce when Bryan had enough votes. Most of the delegates put on their hats and moved toward the exits.

During the switching that hold the ball in bedlam for half an hour, William J. Bryan, sitting as a delegate from Florida, was voting for his brother.

The vote was announced in silence. Bryan's vote was greeted by an outburst of applause, followed by boos, hisses and cat calls. The crowd made a rush for the doors before the full list of names could be read or the motion to adjourn the convention put.

Barkley announced that Permanent Chairman Walsh was to make the formal notification speech to Davis and Temporary Chairman Pat Harrison would notify Bryan.

The band struck up "Home Sweet Home," and the crowd trickled out into the night. The convention was ended.

Mr. Davis went before the national committee and declared that all differences must be buried immediately. Mr. Bryan then pledged the unrestrained support of his brother, William J., and all their followers for party unity.

HAIL KILLED CHICKENS

AMARILLO, Texas, July 10.—Hundreds of chickens were killed when a hail storm swept this section recently. The hail fell to a depth of nine inches on a ranch in Potter county, cleaned out the grass in fields and broke shingles on the roofs of houses.

ZOO IS GROWING

CISCO, Texas, July 10.—The city zoo's population is increasing. Starting with a big black eagle the enterprise has grown to include three possums donated by Grigler Paschall.

"—AND SOME IN VELVET GOWNS"

As the old nursery rhyme hath it, there are always "some in velvet gowns," because there is a soft aristocratic richness about velvet which no other fabric has. But there are some seasons when this fabric is more triumphant than others. So it has been this year, and already a magnificent velvet season is predicted by fashion authorities for the fall. Printed velvets, cut velvets, in Chinese designs and colors will be worn, according to Henri Creange, authority on textile fashions, in gorgeous gowns, wraps, and for rich lining effects.

The cape pictured, then, of soft coral colored Cheney velvet is very much in the mode now and for the fall too. It is simple in line, and like all capes, quite possible of achievement at home. The cape proper is gathered into a shaped shoulder yoke which is held by a cut steel buckle, whose glitter is reflected in two wide bands of silver lame trimming the inside of the cape which is lined with the same coral velvet. The slender strap slippers are silver too.

The collar is of grebe dyed in coral color. It is very fashionable to dye the fur to match the garment with which it is worn.

The cape, as you will see, has quite a new note in that it does not meet in front, or wrap over, but remains open, showing part of the dress.

MAKE 'EM TRACK THE LAW
BEAUMONT, Texas, July 10.—The first arrest for storing gasoline in a garage because of the "gasless Sunday" order was that of D. B. Clark. The city fire marshall warned all automobile owners that gasless Sundays in Beaumont were no excuse for storing gasoline in private garages. If more than a gallon of gasoline is kept in private garages, other than that stored underground, it is a violation of a city ordinance.

"For Mexia, I WILL"

SORROW AT THE WHITE HOUSE

BEN B. HUNT

We dearly love the President,
Because his soul is great;
The tender love we have for him
Mere words could never state.
He represents the nation's dreams,
The hopes that urge us on,
The upward strife of national life
That we have undergone.

And when dark shadows creep about
The home where he resides
They darken also all our hearts
Where love for him abides.
And now his heart is bow'd in gloom
His soul is fraught with grief;
For him and for his weeping wife,
O Lord bring quick relief!

For shadows darks have crept about
The great home on the hill
Which no one now can fill.
But they bear not their grief alone,
Alone in dark despair,
For all the nation weeps with them
Beside their vacant chair.

The nation with its tender love
Would draw them to its breast
And fain would soothe their aching hearts
And bring them peace and rest.
A hundred million voices rise
To God in fervent prayer
That Christ will heal the stricken hearts
And lift the burdens there!

O, death hath dealt a cruel blow!
It's stolen all their joy!
It's taken from the great White House
A true and splendid boy.
It's brought the nation's noble chief
To bitter grief and pain
And hushed the music of a voice
He fain would hear again.

But somewhere in the Great Beyond,
O, what joy and bliss!
They all shall see their child again
And feel his childish kiss.
For Death may steal the bloom of youth
And strike both great and small;
But Christ restores the bloom again,
With life and hope for all!

O Death, where is thy sting? O grave, where is thy victory? But thanks be to God which gives us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ.—1 Cor. 15:55, 57.

Some one has predicted another deadlock—on the vice presidential question. Don't worry. You have no doubt heard the story of how a burnt child dreads the fire.

Now that the ticket has been selected and a good platform adopted, all democrats should forget the lateness of the late election and put their shoulders to the wheel and help "put the rats out."

They held a love feast in Madison Square Garden Wednesday night, not so much because the nominee is such a popular man, but because the delegates were no doubt just tickled to death at the idea of getting home in time to vote.

While they were having a love feast in the convention hall Wednesday night, there was sorrow in the White House, and while today the democratic party is closing up its business of nominating candidates for president and vice president, a sympathetic people how in sorrow with the nation's chief as the funeral of young Calvin Coolidge is being held.

Six feet in height, weight 180 pounds, straight as an arrow, handsome white haired, is the description of John W. Davis, the next president of the United States. With this description we can form a mental picture of the man who is to bear the democratic banner in victory. And we might recognize him even in a crowd. We not always give a brief description of public men, then we could form some idea of how they look.

Clarence E. Gilmore has been besieged to run for Governor of Texas this year, but he said that he felt his duty was to be the best Railroad Commissioner he knew how to be; that he believed he could render the State more service on the Commission than anywhere else, and that he would therefore run for reelection to that office. He deserves the loyal support of every true Democrat in this county, and we hope that our county goes one hundred per cent for him. It seems interesting to investigate his record.

Grasshopper Facts For The Farmer

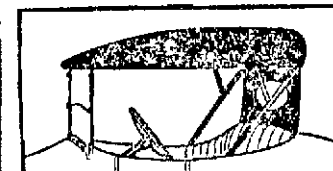

By R. R. REPPERT, Entomologist

By this time the damage from grasshoppers is diminishing, and by the end of July it will hardly be noticeable.

To reassure the farmers, the following facts are given: After becoming mature about the end of June, the hoppers during August and September lay their eggs in solid soil, usually in sod land or pastures, along fence rows, or in the grass along creeks. One female will lay about 200 eggs. These pass through the winter and hatch in the spring, especially following a warm rain. They continue to hatch over a period of four to six weeks, but after these overwintering eggs hatch, no more young grasshoppers will appear until the following spring. There is but one generation of grasshoppers a year, and after the spring hatching is completed, the farmer need not be apprehensive of other young grass hoppers the same season.

Damage Unlikely in 1925

It has been learned that in some sections farmers, fearing a repetition next year of this season's damage, are signifying their intention of moving to other sections.

There is little basis for this fear. It is unusual to have heavy grasshopper damage two years in succession, as has occurred in 1923 and 1924.

The reason for this is that grasshoppers are usually held to small numbers by various natural causes. Several kinds of flies attack them. The larva of the blister beetle destroys the eggs in the fall. A fungus disease sweeps away great numbers, especially in warm, moist weather.

Only in seasons when conditions favor the hopper and are unfavorable to these various enemies do the grasshoppers multiply to greatly destructive numbers. A great number of grasshoppers furnish an abundance of food for these various parasites, and they also during a year of excessive grasshopper damage, multiply to such numbers that the hoppers are effectively controlled the succeeding year and for a number of years thereafter. Already these factors are working this season. It is too early to make any definite statement as to how effectively they will reduce the number of hoppers next season. Observations will be made and the facts given to the public late this fall and winter. We feel reasonably safe, however, in assuring the farmers that no extensive damage will occur for the season of 1925, and damage will be restricted to small and isolated areas, such as is reported almost every year from some section of the state or other. These small infestations will be easily reduced by the proper measures, and no great apprehension should be felt regarding them.

THERE'S ART IN BOBBING

It's no longer a question of snip, snip and it's off.

Particular women now demand that the hair which remains form a becoming frame for the face and gracefully outlined head.

That's where "art" comes in, for there are as many styles of bobs as there are lobbed haired girls and women. Each one is an individual problem of chin, eyes, nose and mouth.

Then there's the fashionable element—the smart touch which has always associated Paris with women's coiffures—

And the necessity of keeping the hair glossy, fluffy and clean.

All that fastidious women desire will be accomplished by a weekly visit and a small sum well spent at its appearance in Texas. Our winters destroy all stages of this insect in our state, and infestation always progresses from Mexico northward. This situation in the Rio Grande Valley is closely watched and, to date, none have crossed into Texas. Farmers of Central and Northern Texas may feel reasonably safe from this insect during the month of July at least. However, they should be fully prepared, with poison and equipment, to fight it as soon as it appears. Information concerning approaching damage will be given the public as soon as we learn of such.

MANY AMERICANS WILL GATHER AT DEDICATION MEMORIAL

WASHINGTON, July 10.—Many Americans will gather at Chateau Thierry to take part next Sunday, July 13, in the dedication of the Chateau Thierry Memorial Church erected by gifts from America. Nearly every part of the church and its fixtures have been given as a memorial by the families of men who lost their lives in the World War.

Among them is the lectern Bible given by Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, Sr., in memory of Quentin Roosevelt, who was shot down by a German airplane in the summer of 1918. She has written an inscription of her own for the inside cover of the Bible to be read when the church is dedicated.

The church itself has been given by the Reformed church in the United States as a memorial to the five hundred men of that communion who lost their lives in the war. It is a part of the whole program of aid to the French churches that has been carried on under the general auspices of the Federal Council of the churches of Christ in America.

The dedication has been arranged so that it would fit in with the tour of Europe by the Huguenot pilgrims from the United States. Many of the pilgrims will take part in the service, others visiting the place whence their ancestors came to settle in America two or three hundred years ago. The pilgrimage is part of the Huguenot New Netherlands Tercentenary celebration.

The National Service Commission of the Reformed Church had a balance when the armistice was signed. From it was purchased a plot of ground in the town square for $11,000. All the buildings on it were wrecked by German bombs. The battle is on the adjoining lot on the top of the hill back of the City Hall.

The church is about 1,000, 100 francs. It was designed by Paul Cret, professor of Architecture at the University of Pennsylvania. Plans for all the furniture has been given as individual memorials by members of the Reformed Church, though a few members of other churches have been allowed to participate.

Such as the Roosevelt Bible will rest has been given by the First Reformed Church of Lancaster, Pennsylvania. It is in the form of an angel carved in wood by Alois Jang. The pulpit is a joint memorial of the 22 chaplains of the United States Army who lost their lives in the war.

The Mercantile Bank has given the bell in memory of the men of the 28th Infantry who lost their lives. Memorials were also given by Franklin and Marshall College, Franklin and Marshall Academics, the Theological Seminary of the Reformed Church at Lancaster, Ursinus College, Muhlenberg College, the Theological Seminary at Dayton, Ohio and other schools.

FAMOUS BANKER HAD HIS FORTUNE IN TAX EXEMPTS

"The banker, Jacob H. Schiff," says Collier's Weekly, "left an estate valued at nearly $35,000,000. The net taxable income from the whole of it worked out at scarcely 1 and one-half per cent per year. The bulk of his estate was in tax-exempt bonds, because the surpluses on other investments would have left him a lower rate of return than did the bonds. He was a business man. Tax schedules did not tax him, but only forced his money out of business uses into investments. He had to invest his money not with those who built up property, but with those who spend the proceeds of State, city and national enterprises. The information contained in such wills as that of Jacob H. Schiff is disquieting to those who want to 'make the rich pay all the taxes'."

When James J. Hill, famous railroad builder, died he left his widow an estate yielding $355,000 a year, but by the simple expedient of converting Hill's securities into tax-free bonds the widow's net income was raised to $730,000 a year. And the difference represented what the Government lost in taxes.

SIX TOWNS CLAIM BIRTH-PLACE OF FAMOUS INDIAN

(By International News Service) SYRACUSE, N. Y., July 9.—

Homer, whose birthplace is claimed by many cities, has an American parallel today in Red Jacket, orator and chief of the Wolf clan of the Seneca tribe of Iroquois, who is claimed as a native son by no less than six Central New York villages, including Canoga, which has the edge.

Red Jacket was born about 1757. In civil life his name was Ogetiani, meaning "Always Ready." On his elevation as chief in the ranks of the Senecas he received the name "Sagoyewah," meaning "He Keeps Them Awake," a designation, according to popular belief, having reference to his ability as an orator.

The name "Red Jacket" was given him during the American Revolution by the British army commanders, who furnished the chief with a number of bright red jackets to hold his friends.

At all times Red Jacket used his oratorical ability to prevent a reconciliation with the whites. He was among the 50 great Indians who accepted the invitation of President

Washington to attend a conference in Philadelphia in 1791.

HIGH COST OF EDUCATION FOR YEAR TWENTY-FOUR

AUSTIN, Texas, July 9.—"High School Costs in Texas in 1924" was the subject of a thesis recently presented for the master of arts degree at the University of Texas by A. W. Evans, of Austin. A survey of 380 senior high schools and twelve junior high schools was made by Mr. Evans, and the thesis was written on the cost per credit hour for each student in each subject, and a comparison was made for subjects and schools. The work was supervised by Dr. B. F.

Vocational agriculture, manual training and home economics were found to be invariably the most costly subjects. English, history and mathematics are generally the least costly, and the other subjects maintain a general mediocre position. It was found that the ratio of cost between junior high school and senior high school was three to four and of elementary school to junior school two to three, so that the ratio between the three divisions of the school system as to cost is 2:3:4.

COLUMBUS, O., July 10.—Jazz isn't music!

But "Turkey in the Straw," "Swanee River" and "My Old Kentucky Home"—that selection represents music that is music.

In those few words, did A. T. Noe, 30 year old fiddler, sum up the qualities, good and bad, of the modernist melody, as compared with the tunes that lightened the hearts of a generation or so ago.

And Noe's estimate of music is not to be dismissed without consideration. Only recently did he win the undisputed championship of Columbus and environs.

To be added to his titular dignity is his six-eight years of devotion to his violin, during which time he has seen hundreds of the so-called popular airs make their debut and then, after a brief existence, flit forever into obscurity. The aged violinist has heard them all, but he doesn't know any of the "hits" well enough to play them, he says.

Noe has his following in his interpretation of musical appreciation, and, although it may appear small when compared with the flocks of saxophone artist devotees, it is sufficiently large to demand consideration for its leader's judgment.

"He's been scraping the amalgamated and co-ordinated filaments from a horse's tail over the erstwhile cat's innards for 68 years, and he should know what is really music," asserted one of Noe's followers, himself a member of the "younger set" but still well past the half century mark.

For all his four-score years the veteran fiddler appears much younger than his age would indicate. He attributes his longevity to his love for his instrument.

"When things go wrong," said Noe, "I take down my fiddle and chase gloom into the background with 'An Irish Washerwoman's Dream' or some other old-time song."

What does the farmer think about dancing?

This question, among others pertaining to rural recreation, was submitted to a representation of agriculturists by students of country life at Ohio State University.

In districts where dancing was formerly frowned upon almost without exception, it was found that only about half the inhabitants now are definitely opposed to this form of recreation.

More precisely, 52 per cent of the farmers queried said they considered dancing sinful, while 19 per cent "guessed" it was all right and 29 per cent were in favor of it.

However, 68 per cent said the country needs no more play, that the nation already has a superabundance of recreation with so much work to be done.

According to P. G. Beck, who supervised the survey, one family even considered coquet sinful. The head of this house is said to have refused to make further contributions to the pastor's salary fund until the croquet wickets were removed from his churchyard.

Charging conspiracy to defraud the Government, a Federal Grand Jury at Washington, D. C., has indicted Albert B. Fall, of New Mexico, former Secretary of the Interior; Harry F. Sinclair, of New York, multi-millionaire oil magnate; and E. J. Doherty, of California, another multi-millionaire oil man, to whom Fall loaned naval oil lands in the West. Charles M. Hay, vice-chairman of the Missouri delegation to the Democratic National Convention in New York City, charged in indictments with J. B. Shannon, another Missouri delegate, when the latter charged money had been used to get votes in the delegation.

HARVEST BULLETIN NO. 5

In Oklahoma and Texas, the harvest is practically ended. Both states have had an ample supply of labor. The only difficulty encountered in either state was in securing men for the extreme Northwestern sections, but the needs of the Panhandle of Texas and of the Northwestern counties of Oklahoma—Harper, Beaver, and Texas—were met. Owing to the extreme distances men had to travel, there was some delay in meeting the needs of Northwest Oklahoma, but it is believed that no loss to crops resulted.

The harvest in Kansas is nearing completion with plenty of men in the state to meet all labor requirements. The demand for harvest hands for Kansas has been greater than in any recent year and a much larger number of men have been recruited and brought into the state than were required last year. A large territory was demanding men than usual at the same time. In sixteen counties in Central Kansas, representing 3,000,000 acres of wheat, the harvest was on full blast and calls came in simultaneously for thousands of men.

Oklahoma's harvest was retarded and due to heavy crops and excessive heat an unusually large number of men were required in that state. Releases were slow in starting and there were a few days when it was not possible to fully meet the needs of certain big wheat counties, but the men were forthcoming, and on this date it is believed that all of the Central third of Kansas and the heavy counties of the Southwestern half of the state have their labor needs provided for. Although in some sections harvesting was done shorthanded for a few days, reports do not indicate any damage to grain through lack of labor. The drift from the South and West should be ample to care for the harvest labor needs of the Central-western and Northwestern counties of the state.

The 14,000,000 acres of wheat in Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas have in round numbers required 60,000 outside harvest hands. To recruit these men and to get them to the places needed at the times when needed with as little congestion as possible at distributing points, has been no little task. This service appreciates the co-operation it has received from all sources and particularly the consideration and understanding of those County Agents, Chambers of Commerce, bankers, business men and farmers in the wheat sections who have been sharing with us the responsibility of the harvest.

The next field of activity is the state of Nebraska, where the harvest is beginning to get under headway. Requests have already come to the Kansas City office from Kansas counties for instructions as to points to which harvest hands should be directed. The Nebraska crop will not require the usual number of men. The harvest has been somewhat delayed in starting. It has not been possible to give the desired information before. The first call for men for Nebraska came to this office today.

Special Agents of this Service are now stationed at Nebraska City, Hastings, Holdrege, and Grand Island and this week Special Agents will be placed at such points as McCook, Lincoln and Fairbury. Temporary Field Headquarters will be opened at Omaha in the office of the County Agent at the Court House. These Agents will assist in the distribution of the needed labor for Nebraska, but will be placed at these points primarily for the purpose of directing harvest hands coming from the South to the points in Nebraska and South Dakota where harvest labor will be needed.

Another bulletin will be issued within a few days, giving more definite information as to Nebraska and the states to the North.

GUSHERS WIN THRILLER

TEMPLE, Texas, July 10.—The Gushers won a thrilling 17-inning hurling duel here this afternoon by a score of 3 to 1. Pipkin allowed but two hits until two men were out in the ninth and then walked Foulkes, who scored from first on Seely's two-base hit to the right field fence. Rick posted Rover's ground ball in the final inning and after Foulkes and Seely had both gone out Jones hit a home run over the left field fence. The Surmons got 11 of their hits in the first nine innings and in the tenth filled the bases with no one out but Goppert, whose fielding was sensational, kept them from scoring by cutting down two runners at the plate. He also robbed McElwee of a hit, but would have scored two runners in the ninth.

Tradition Busted By Investigation

HOUSTON, Texas, July 10.—Tradition has long named a log shack on the old Andrews place, now Prairie avenue and Austin streets, where President Sam Houston first did his official business. An inquiry conducted by the chamber of commerce revealed, however, that the best authentic "original executive mansion" of the Republic was a store building on the corner of Main and Preston Avenue, present site of the Scanlon building.

The investigation was in response to a request for pictures to be used in an American history to be published by Brown Brothers, New York. A picture was finally found in the possession of Geo. Beach, photographer. It was a story and a half clappingboard building, bearing the sign "H. H. Dooley & Co. Hatters." It was in this building that Sam Houston had his official residence during 1836 and 1837.

JUDGE HARP RETURNS FROM OVER THERE

Mrs. R. E. Hickman has just received a wire from her sister, Mrs. D. Leon Harp, stating that while in Paris doctors advised Mr. Harp to return to America at once and go to some quiet place and rest until he fully recovers his health. They arrived in New York last Saturday, but where they will go has not yet been decided. The many friends of Judge Harp in Mexia hope for his speedy recovery.

ALABAMA BOUND!

Just for a change here are a few lines from a Mexianite who slipped out early Sunday morning and spent the night with parents in Midlothian, Texas, who with two other families, joined us on our trip to Alabama.

We have in our party three autos and twelve people, and we left Midlothian, Texas, this morning (July 7th) and are now in Texarkana, Tex. Monday evening, 6 p. m.

We found the roads fine by way of Dallas, Garland, Greenville, Sulphur Springs, Mt. Vernon and Mt. Pleasant. This far we have enjoyed ourselves fine. Have not even had a puncture, and for the night we are in an enclosed camp ground where we have city water, electric lights and gas, so to speak, with, also a private room all screened in with bed at small cost. Gee, but this beats work, so far as pleasure is concerned.

I'll try and tell you a little about Arkansas tomorrow.

Yours very truly,
A. M. Wesson.

WATCHING THE SCOREBOARD

Yesterday's hero—Johnny Mostil of the White Sox. He bunted out two helpful homers at his team nosed out the world champions, 8 to 6.

The Red Sox won both ends of a double-header from St. Louis, 5-1 and 5-0.

Cleveland beat Baumgartner and Koenig and took both games of their double bill with the Athletics, 5-1 and 6-3.

The league-leading Senators increased their advantage over the Yankees to a game and a half by breaking even with Detroit, losing 5-2 and winning 1-2.

The Braves slugged three Pirates, 6-3, for a 6 to 3 victory.

The Reds rallied in the eighth, scored five runs on seven hits and beat the Phillies, 6 to 3.

UNITED STATES TIRES ARE GOOD TIRES

Scene on a United States Rubber Company Plantation in the Far East. After the rubber trees are topped the latex is brought in cans to these Field Stations and weighed.

The Beginning of Better Tire Service

WHEN the U. S. Rubber Engineers discovered that raw rubber latex in its natural state was a better tire material than the old bulk form of crude rubber it marked the beginning of better tire service.

U. S. Royal Cords built of cords solutioned in raw rubber latex have now been in use over three years. These tires have shown remarkable strength and wearing quality.

The use of latex in tire building is commercially possible because of three things:

- 1—The processes and equipment for using latex developed by the United States Rubber Company.
- 2—The discovery of a method of shipping latex to this country by the U. S. Rubber Engineers.
- 3—The development of the U. S. Rubber Plantation in the Far East providing an unfailing source of supply of latex of a peculiarly uniform quality especially adapted for tire building.

The latex treatment is particularly valuable in the building of low air-pressure flexible-side-wall Balloon and Balloon-Type Tires.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR CALVIN, JR. HELD AT THE OLD HOME

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., July 10.—Funeral services for Calvin Coolidge, Jr., were held in the little church where he took his first communion. Dr. Kenneth B. Wells, pastor of Edwards Congregational church, conducted the services. Mrs. Coolidge maintained her composure. The church was packed with old friends. The entire town, where the Coolidges used to live, is in mourning. The body was taken to Plymouth for burial.

By MILTON MacKAYE
NORTHAMPTON, Mass., July 10.—The Coolidges were among their own people today. They have brought their dead son home.

The presidential special which has borne the body of Calvin Coolidge, Jr. from Washington arrived here at 7 o'clock this morning with the executive family, a dozen intimate friends and the members of the Cabinet aboard.

Half Northampton met the train at the station—a quiet crowd, awed by the tragedy which has visited the city's one time Mayor and yet curious to see the imposing corps of State officials who escorted him here.

They peered timidly at the long line of coaches as the dusty train drew in. But if only half Northampton greeted the Washington special, all Northampton prepared for the funeral. It was held at Edwards Congregational church at 9 a. m. A thousand flags hung at half mast, store windows showed drawn shades, the town fathers had decreed this a day of mourning.

Flowers were banded high at the church at an early hour. The doors were open to all and even before the body of young Coolidge had been moved from the station, the town people had begun to fill the pews.

The President and Mrs. Coolidge arose before the train entered the station after passing a reasonably good night.

They retired shortly after leaving Baltimore last night in an effort to gain strength for the day's ordeal. Together with their elder son, John, they were quartered in the final coach of the train.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Stearns, intimate friends of the presidential party and James F. Coupal, White House physician, shared the same car.

Mrs. Coolidge showed sharp lines of weariness in her face today. Breakfast was served to the family in their car. Shortly afterward they were joined by William M. Butler of Boston, chairman of the Republican National Committee and Henry F. Long, secretary to the President when he was Governor of Massachusetts.

The funeral train made good time on its journey through Baltimore, Philadelphia, the New Jersey cities and New York. The schedule had been advanced to avoid curious eyes and making the trip as private as possible.

All night the lights burned in the parlor of that rear car where the President's son lay. Three marines with rifles at attention stood guard at the rose covered bier.

The President, Mrs. Coolidge and John went to their old "double house" on Massasolet avenue here. It is the dwelling where young Calvin was born 16 years ago.

The Coolidge family then occupied half the house and paid a rental of $35 a month. Today it remains in the ownership of the family. Mrs. Andrew Goodhue, mother of Mrs. Coolidge, lives there.

Colonel John Coolidge, the President's father, waited within the house for the family. He had come over from his farm near Plymouth to join the funeral party and probably accompany it back to Washington.

The elder Coolidge is 79, but a life time upon the farm has left him straight, strong and tamed. The boy Calvin was his closest friend during the past few years.

Each summer since he reached the teens, the White House youngster had come to help harvest his crops. This year he had planned to repeat the performance but his father said he should attend the Camp Devens military training camp.

The casket was moved shortly before 1:30 and taken direct to the Edwards Congregational church. A marine guard marched behind.

LITTLE CALVIN.

CALVIN COOLIDGE, JR.

They are burying little Calvin today—little Calvin, the President's son. Calvin was a lad of sixteen, proud that his father was President, glad that his mother was the President's wife, eager in all the ways of a boy. But death, which is presumed to pursue the old, does not exempt the young. Death lurked beside little Calvin's path, trod in his footsteps and followed him home, to the big house, one day. And now they are burying little Calvin—little Calvin, the President's son. All the Nation stands sorrowing by the open grave, and all the people's hearts pulsate in sympathy with two parents bowed down. There is no partisanship, no rancor, at little Calvin's funeral; just grief among the people who see their President and their President's wife sub-shaken at little Calvin's bier.—State Press.

With Fingers Crossed And Colors Flying Went Down for McAdoo

NEW YORK, July 10.—In the excitement following Davis' nomination, protests of three Oregon delegates that Davis' nomination was not unanimous, was not heard by Chairman Walsh. A written protest was sent to Walsh which stated that the secretary is requested to "register our names on the last ballot as voting for William G. McAdoo."

MAYBE SHE HAD BEEN EATING HIS PAINT

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, July 10.—J. M. Williams is puzzled over two blue eggs he found in one of his chicken coops here. The eggs are tinted a faint blue and streak off into white. Williams doesn't know whether one of his Rhode Island red hens laid the blue eggs or whether some joker painted the eggs and put them in the coop. Williams is a paint contractor and believes the hen might have taken on some of the environment of color to produce the colored eggs.

HERE ARE THE FACTS!

I was told that this paper has favored groups of clanish orders. That statement made by anyone is absolutely false. The Mexia Daily News belongs to the people of Mexia, and to the people that support it, not to any group, order or denomination. We have many friends among all classes and we appreciate them and are glad at all times to please them in way that is possible, but any one trying to spread their propaganda at our expense, professing friendship for this institution will not be permitted by me if I know it. Every person has their idea politically and spend their own money for their privilege to vote at the polls, which they have a perfect right to do in free America. For anyone to make a false statement against a clean commercial newspaper that tries to be fair and print the news as it is, makes us feel that the party that would make such a statement has been unfair to us. We are always glad to print both sides of every question that concerns the welfare of our people, but we do refuse to print some articles that people write wanting us to assume all responsibility of the attacks they make on public questions. We require your signature and will not run the article unless the party will stand behind such a letter if we deem it printable.

CORSICANA HAS $50,000 FIRE LAST NIGHT

Conditions Now Are Normal In Brazil

RIO DE JANEIRO, July 10.—News was eagerly awaited here early today of the final defeat of the military rebels which have held a part of the city of Sao Paulo since last Saturday.

It was expected the remaining rebel position would fall today, if it has not yet been captured.

"Legal troops sent against the rebels in Sao Paulo now are in full operation with the supreme command perfectly organized," says the latest official communiqué.

"The situation of the insurrectionists becomes more and more critical. Normal communication between the city of Sao Paulo and Santos has been restored and there is nothing to interfere with free movement of the people in the district."

"The lines of the Central Do Brazil Railway (connecting Rio de Janeiro with Sao Paulo) were interrupted between Mogi and Sao Paulo but have been reestablished and the entire system is in operation again practically on normal basis."

"The Luz military barracks is the only point in Sao Paulo left in the hands of the enemy."

Dallas Democrats Pleased With The Selection of Davis

DALLAS, Texas, July 10.—Selection of John W. Davis as Democratic presidential nominee meets with the approval of Dallas Democrats generally, according to their statements today. Frank W. Wozencraft, former mayor and delegate at large to the convention this year said he was "highly jubilant" over the nomination of Davis.

The nominee also meets with the approval of Dr. A. C. Carter, cyclops of Dallas Klan No. 66 who said Davis "holds the middle ground and is not so positive in the extremes represented by either Smith or McAdoo."

Labor leaders declared Texas workers would "support the ticket."

FOURTEEN DOLLARS PER CAPITA FOR NEXT YEARS SCHOOLS

HON. LYNCH DAVIDSON SPEAKS TO EXTRA LARGE CROWD HERE

Lynch Davidson, candidate for Governor of Texas, spoke here Wednesday night to what was universally agreed as the largest crowd to hear a political speaker, being estimated at 2,000 people. On the platform with him were Mr. Brodnax, Mr. Willie Miller and Dr. R. B. Jackson. The latter in his usual easy manner introduced the speaker, bringing his life and career down from the time of his birth out at Honest Ridge, through his boyhood days when he was a sheep herder, a laborer handling lumber and clerk in several different stores.

JAMES M. COX WAS THE MOSES OF THE LOCKED CONVENTION

NEW YORK, July 10.—In a sunlit room on the twelfth floor of the Waldorf Hotel, free from the reek of stale cigars and without perspiring politicians in their shirt sleeves, the nomination of John W. Davis as Democratic standard bearer was made possible.

A medium sized man, close knit, alert, immaculate, dressed for business, his keen gray eyes peering intently from behind a pair of nose glasses and his stream of callers made that nomination possible. That man was James M. Cox, of Ohio, until today the titular leader of the Democratic party.

A candidate himself who had gone down to defeat by seven million majority—the largest in history—after making a "crusade" for the League of Nations, Cox put aside personal ambitions and the human desire to show the world that he could "come back" when he saw his party in the throes of the bitterest factional feud in its history. He came to New York on Monday bearing the olive branch and he succeeded in restoring harmony among the warring elements.

On Saturday night, an appeal was made to Cox to use his good offices to break the deadlock between McAdoo and Smith. But his supporters told him that he could be nominated. On Sunday night the futile attempt at a compromise was made. When word of the result reached him, Cox hesitated no longer. He forgot all but party harmony and came.

Cox came not in the interest of any candidate. He came merely as a peacemaker without a string tied to him. But, after looking over the field, he eliminated them all but Davis as the man on whom all could agree. Senator Glass of Virginia and Senator Walsh of Montana, were the last to be cut off his list.

When he arrived Monday morning Cox issued a general invitation to Democrats to consult him. The leaders came—George Brennan of Illinois; Tom Taggart of Indiana; Ed Moore of Ohio; Cordell Hull of Tennessee; Pat Harrison of Mississippi—but they were not the ones he came to see. He wanted to confer with the delegates who were to make the nomination.

The rank and file began to come in to consult with their titular leader. Cox began with the men and women of his own Ohio delegation. As he pleaded for harmony, they gradually came around to his way of thinking. Encouraged with his success he began to plead with others, groups and individuals.

"Davis, Davis, Davis,"—Cox drummed the name into the consciousness of all with whom he came in contact. Many, particularly the so-called leaders, thought that Davis was "shop worn" with the convention, that he "started" too soon and could not possibly go over the top.

Cox thought differently. He patiently extolled Davis' virtues to the men and women who came. He wanted to see the women particularly, for Cox, a master politician, realized the power of the women vote. He spoke of Davis' intellectual capacity and honesty, his courage, called attention to the fact that he was a Wilson Democrat and an exponent of the League of Nations and expressed the conviction that Davis would appeal to the whole country.

Cox started his conferences Monday morning and did not remove his clothes or rest until 5 a. m. Wednesday. By that time he had talked to enough delegates to make sure that Davis would go over. Then he went to bed.

The result, which started with Ohio swinging 23 votes to Davis, has convinced the Democratic leaders that Cox was right in his estimate of the situation.

The Democratic convention was not bossless but it was unbossed. While Cox was at work the bosses did not know what was going on.

The Old Veterans Are Passing Away

AUSTIN, Texas, July 10.—The fact that old soldiers of the south are rapidly dying out was brought forth with the announcement by the state treasury department that the highest pension in the history of the state will be paid August 31. The decrease in the number of Confederate Veterans to 15,000 means an increase of $2 in each quarterly payment, bringing the total up to $94.

Dr. E. F. Hamm returned today from the district Medical meeting at Marlin.

NEBRASKA GOV'OR NAMED FOR VICE ON FIRST BALLOT

By ROBERT J. BENDER
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
NEW YORK, July 10.—John W. Davis of West Virginia for President and Charles W. Bryan of Nebraska for Vice President.

That Democratic ticket, coupling the conservative East with the progressive West was brought out of the most bitterly contested convention in political history at 2:25 a. m. today.

The nomination of the Nebraska Governor was forced by a coterie of Democratic leaders, after he had been selected, personally, by Davis as his running mate. It came on the first ballot, furnishing a curious anticlimax to the fierce battle over the presidential nomination, which ended in a compromise on the 103rd ballot late yesterday afternoon.

Selection of Bryan was made only after the Democrats had been twice turned down by progressive candidates for the vice presidency. Senator Walsh of Montana, Davis' first choice, in a letter to the convention formally refused the offer stating he could best serve his party by running for re-election to the Senate. The name of Edwin T. Meredith of Iowa was withdrawn after he had refused to run with Davis on the ground that he was too conservative to appeal to the agricultural West.

Davis was unwilling to accept any of the nine candidates who had been nominated formally. A recess of one hour was called at midnight while Davis went into conference with leaders at the historic Democratic rendezvous, the Mannatt Club, across the street from Madison Square Garden.

When Bryan was finally hit upon, Chairman Cordell Hull, Tom Taggart, Senator Pat Harrison and other leaders, bearded, rushed back to the Garden to get Bryan's acceptance. He met them at the door and speedily gave his consent. It was necessary to place him in nomination and Harry B. Feharthy was rounded up to name him. Bryan himself told his sponsors to make his speech "short and snappy." "Feharthy complied and the balloting began.

Worn out by two weeks' bickering and strife and three hours of oratory during the fore part of the evening, hundreds of the delegates had departed for home. The galleries were all but deserted. Less than 500 spectators remained of the vast crowd that jammed the galleries to give Governor Al Smith of New York, their hero, a thunderous ovation and Davis, who appeared by invitation, a cordial welcome. Most of the delegates' seats were filled by "ringers."

Chairman Walsh had turned the gavel over to Representative Barkley of Kentucky, who had great difficulty in controlling the crowd after the balloting got under way. But the din that marked the earlier sessions was gone. Voices rang out clear and sharp in the huge hall.

Humorists made the balloting more difficult. They voted for men and women whose names were unfamiliar to the tally clerks.

Bryan got away slowly until the word was passed that he was Davis' choice.

After casting half of the Illinois vote for Mayor Hylan of New York as a compliment, George E. Brennan of Illinois led the switching which ended in Bryan amassing a total of 739 votes, more than the necessary two-thirds. He was followed by Franklin D. Roosevelt who cast New York's 90 votes solidly for Bryan. Then Mayor Frank Hague of Jersey City whipped his delegation into the line and the landslide was on.

George L. Berry of Tennessee, the soldier-labor candidate, was off to a running start. He finished with 204, when the switching ended. But the soldier-labor crowd, aided by a rowdy bunch that the police finally ejected from the hall, kept up a constant cry

PALESTINE TO LICENSE BROADCASTING STATIONS

(By International News Service)
JERUSALEM, July 10.—Inhabitants of Jerusalem are soon to have an opportunity of hearing what is being said or sung in distant parts of the world. Licenses for the installation of broadcasting apparatus, connecting by wireless the old Holy Land with other parts of the world, are contemplated in an ordinance just published in the Official Gazette.

Both Sides Get A Square Deal

AUSTIN, Texas, July 10.—The four year Texas statute of limitations applies on claims by shippers for overcharges and by railroads for undercharges, the attorney general department has ruled. The federal laws apply in all claims growing out of interstate commerce, however, the ruling said.

Assistant attorney general Seagler added in the opinion "that it is very doubtful in our minds as to whether the railroad commission has jurisdiction over limitation questions."

DEAD MAN'S SOUL ENTERS BIRD, LINER'S TARS SAY

LOS ANGELES, July 10.—There is a superstition of the deep that when a seaman dies his soul enters the body of a gull.

The superstition assumed a new color when the Panama Pacific liner Manchuria arrived here from New York bearing the body of one of her men and, in an adjoining cabin, a bird of brilliant plumage, which mysteriously came out of the air the morning after the man died. It was while the Manchuria was far off the coast of Mexico that Cornelius Van Ree, assistant baker, died. A few hours later the bird appeared.

Members of the Manchuria's crew say their new mascot is the reincarnation of Van Ree, and that it came in some other form than a gull because the dead man was not a seaman.

GLASSES FOR EVERYBODY

An eminent English eye specialist, in a recent report in New York to the National Committee for the Prevention of Blindness, is quoted as saying that, within the next century, every person in the United States will be wearing glasses.

And there is reason to believe that this prediction may become true so rapidly and intelligently is educational work as to the need of glasses being done.

It is an established fact that two-thirds of all the people of adult age need glasses now, although many of them do not yet realize it.

Demand on the eyesight are growing greater and more exacting all the time, as science and invention are creating new occupations.

People still are "abusing their eyes" in various ways, one notable way being by subjecting them too much to the strain of "the movies." Screen making and screen seeing are both doing things to the eyes, the grave danger of which does not appear to be realized.

The most important aspect of this subject is that which relates to the eyesight of children, both below and in the "teen age." More and more of them are being supplied with glasses, in time to prevent or correct serious eye trouble for them as adults.

SAYS MODERN GIRLS ARE SALVES TO POWDER PUFF

(By International News Service)
LONDON, July 9.—Modern girls are slaves to the powder puff, according to Lady Richmond Brown, noted woman explorer.

"Too many of the girls of today," said Lady Brown, "have become dolls. Our girls during the war were capable, but I do not think the girl of the present day is made of the right sort—certainly not the girl of the night club and the dance hall."

"Girls who live in the Colonies and those who live in the open-air life of the country have more of the independent, self-relying spirit that is needed today."

Although he has lived in America since he was ten, and has taken out his first citizenship papers, Willie Ritola was compelled to compete for his native Finland in the Olympic games, in which he won the 10,000-metre run in the world's record time of 39 minutes, 23 1/2 seconds. Tommy Hitchcock, darling young American poloist, was injured by being struck by a mallet in the Olympic games, Argentina defeating America by 6 to 5. Charles A. Stoneham, owner of the New York Giants, is facing trial in New York City on charges of conspiracy and using the mails to defraud in stock market deals. Miss Rosa Lombardo, American-born and educated daughter of Sabatino Lombardo, of Westbury, L. I., N. ONE MAN NOW DOES WORK HUNDREDS USED TO DO

Advances in invention and industrial methods and practices since 1800 have enabled production to increase to meet the needs of the people of this country in a manner that has never been equaled in the world.

The production per day per man has increased during the period as follows:

Iron, from 500 pounds to 5,000 pounds.
Lumber from 100 feet to 750 feet.

Nails from 5 pounds to 500 pounds.
Shoes from one-fourth to one pair to 10 pairs.

Coal from one-half ton to 4 tons.
Paper from 20 square feet to 200 square feet.

The class one railroads of America last year moved commodities aggregating 423,000,000,000 ton-miles with 1,800,000 employees. Under transportation methods of 1800 this movement would have required 70,000,000 drivers and 320,000,000 horses.

REMARKABLE NEW BLOOD DISCOVERIES ARE MADE

(By International News Service)
LONDON, July 10.—Remarkable and far-reaching discoveries about the human blood have been made as a result of recent researches, according to scientific authorities.

It is stated that tests initiated shortly after the World War have conclusively proved that the human race is divided into, roughly, four main blood groups, and that this discovery will have a very important bearing on blood transfusion, an operation which is becoming more and more frequent in cases of dire necessity.

Scientists also believe that the new discovery may throw fresh light on the ancestry of man, and will also possibly have some bearing on the proving or disproving of legitimacy.

ROAD BUILDERS COME FROM A. & M. COLLEGE

COLLEGE STATION, Texas, July 10.—A survey has disclosed that two district highway engineers and 21 county highway engineers of the State Highway Department are graduates of the A. & M. College of Texas. R. J. Windrow, who resigned last year as state highway engineer, drew the highest salary ever paid to a state official, and is also an A. & M. graduate. This great participation of A. & M. men in the greatest modern engineering movement of the age is an example of what the technical state institution is worth to the state.

LIVED ON RICE AND CRACKERS FOR A YEAR

In such terrible condition from inanition he had to live on a diet of rice and crackers for over a year, John H. Zachary, 2817 Book-out St., Dallas, Texas, states that M. "I bloated with gas until I couldn't draw a deep breath, and sharp pains around my heart caused me agony. I was so miserable I couldn't rest nights, and during the day I felt lifeless on my feet. "I started taking Karnak when I read about the medicine, and it has put me in the pink of condition. I eat, sleep and work like my old self, and feel as fine as a fiddle in every way. NO EXCUSE FOR PIMPLES AND BUMPS ON THE FACE

The boy or girl who is always conscious of their pimply, blotchy, inflamed or rough skin, and really drawing more attention to it when they keep making excuses for not looking good, don't get any sympathy because folks now know that it is not necessary to keep putting up with this sort of thing.

Since Black and White Ointment, and Black and White Soap, were introduced in this country, thousands of people who had been troubled with pimples, blotches, dark, rough skin, full of bumps, for years are now happy, because they find it gets rid of them so quickly.

Black and White Ointment is economically priced, in liberal packages. The 50c size contains three times as much as the liberal 25c size. All dealers have both the Ointment and the Soap.—(Adv.)

for Berry. Although Colonel Alvin M. Owsley, former commander of the American Legion, was withdrawn by Texas, he finished with 16 votes.

Bennett Clark, son of the late Speaker Champ Clark of Missouri, had a total of 41 and Mrs. Leroy Springs of South Carolina 18. Others who stuck to the end were Governor Glynn, Rhode Island 15; Governor Silzer, New Jersey 8; Former Ambassador Gerard, 10; Mayor Hylan, 6; Newton D. Baker 7; Senator Pittman, Nevada, 6 and Jonathan M. Davis, Kansas, 5. The rest of the votes were scattered.

Several times before the necessary two-thirds was reached motions were made to nominate Bryan by acclamation. These suggestions were greeted by boos and hisses from the Merry supporters. The crowd was restless and continually called to Barkley to announce when Bryan had enough votes. "Most of the delegates put on their hats and moved toward the exits."

During the switching that held the hall in bedlam for half an hour, William J. Bryan, sitting as a delegate from Florida, was voting for his brother.

The vote was announced in silence. Bryan's vote was greeted by an outburst of applause, followed by boos, hisses and cat calls. The crowd made a rush for the doors before the full list of names could be read or the motion to adjourn the convention put.

Barkley announced that Permanent Chairman Walsh was to make the formal notification speech to Davis and Temporary Chairman Pat Harrison would notify Bryan.

The band struck up "Home Sweet Home," and the crowd trickled out into the night. The convention was ended.

Mr. Davis went before the national committee and declared that all differences must be buried immediately. Mr. Bryan then pledged the unrestrained support of his brother, William J., and all their followers for party unity.

"—AND SOME IN VELVET GOWNS"

As the old nursery rhyme hath it, there are always "some in velvet gowns" because there is a soft aristocratic richness about velvet which no other fabric has. But there are some seasons when this fabric is more triumphant than others. So it has been this year, and already a magnificent velvet season is predicted by fashion authorities for the fall. Printed velvets, cut velvets, in Chinese designs and colors will be worn, according to Henri Creange, authority on textile fashions, in gorgeous gowns, wraps, and for rich lining effects.

The cape pictured, then, of soft coral colored Cheney velvet is very much in the mode now, and for the fall too. It is simple in line, and like all capes, quite possible of achievement at home. The cape proper is gathered into a shaped shoulder yoke which is held by a cut steel buckle, whose glitter is reflected in two wide bands of silver lame trimming the inside of the cape which is lined with the same coral velvet. The slender strap slippers are silver too.

The collar is of crepe dyed in coral color. It is very fashionable to dye the fur to match the garment with which it is worn.

The cape, as you will see, has quite a new note in that it does not meet in front, or wrap over, but remains open, showing part of the dress.

CYCLONE BILL LYONS

State Senator William ("Cyclone Bill") Lyons, of Colorado, a staunch McAdoo boomer, was a prominent and picturesque figure at the Democratic National Convention in New York City.

no more young grasshoppers will appear until the following spring. Thus there is but one generation of grasshoppers a year, and after the spring hatching is completed, the farmer need not be apprehensive of other young grasshoppers the same season.

Damage Unlikely in 1925

It has been learned that in some sections tenants, fearing a repetition next year of this season's damage, are signifying their intention of moving to other sections.

There is little basis for this fear. It is unusual to have heavy grasshopper damage two years in succession, as has occurred in 1923 and 1924.

The reason for this is that grasshoppers are usually held to small numbers by various natural causes. Several kinds of flies attack them. The larva of the blister beetle destroys the eggs in the fall. A fungus disease sweeps away great numbers, especially in warm, moist weather.

Only in seasons when conditions favor the hopper and are unfavorable to these various enemies do the grasshoppers multiply to greatly destructive numbers. A great number of grasshoppers furnish an abundance of food for these various parasites, and they also during a year of excessive grasshopper damage, multiply to such numbers that the hoppers are effectively controlled the succeeding year and for a number of years thereafter. Already these factors are working this season. It is too early to make any definite statement as to how effectively they will reduce the number of hoppers next season. Observations will be made and the facts given to the public late this fall and winter. We feel reasonably safe, however, in assuring the farmers that no extensive damage will occur for the season of 1925, and damage will be restricted to small and isolated areas, such as is reported almost every year from some section of the state or other. These small infestations will be easily reduced by the proper measures, and no great apprehension should be felt regarding them.

its appearance in Texas. Our winters destroy all stages of this insect in our state, and infestation always progresses from Mexico northward. This situation in the Rio Grande Valley is closely watched and, to date, none have crossed into Texas. Farmers of Central and Northern Texas may feel reasonably safe from this insect during the month of July at least. However, they should be fully prepared, with poison and equipment, to fight it as soon as it appears. Information concerning approaching damage will be given the public as soon as we learn of such.

SORROW AT THE WHITE HOUSE

BEN B. HUNT

We dearly love the President,
Because his soul is great;
The tender love we have for him
Mere words could never state.
He represents the nation's dreams,
The hopes that urge us on,
The upward strife of national life
That we have undergone.

And when dark shadows creep about
The home where he resides
They darken also all our hearts
Where love for him abides.
And now his heart is bow'd in gloom
His soul is fraught with grief;
For him and for his weeping wife,
O Lord bring quick relief!

For shadows darks have crept about
The great home on the hill
Which no one now can fill.
But they bear not their grief alone,
Alone in dark despair,
For all the nation weeps with them
Beside their vacant chair.

The nation with its tender love
Would draw them to its breast
And fain would soothe their aching hearts
And bring them peace and rest.
A hundred million voices rise
To God in fervent prayer
That Christ will heal the stricken hearts
And lift the burdens there!

O, death hath dealt a cruel blow!
It's stolen all their joy!
It's taken from the great White House
A true and splendid boy.
It's brought the nation's noble chief
To bitter grief and pain
And hushed the music of a voice
He fain would hear again.

But somewhere in the Great Beyond,
O, what joy and bliss!
They all shall see their child again
And feel his childish kiss.
For Death may steal the bloom of youth
And strike both great and small;
But Christ restores the bloom again,
With life and hope for all!

O Death, where is thy sting? O grave, where is thy victory? But thanks be to God which giveth us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ.—I Cor. 15:55, 57.

Some one has predicted another deadlock—on the vice presidential question. Don't worry. You have no doubt heard the story of how a burnt child dreads the fire.

Now that the ticket has been selected and a good platform adopted, all democrats should forget the bitterness of the late convention and put their shoulders to the wheel and help "put the rascals out."

They held a love feast in Madison Square Garden Wednesday night, not so much because the nominee is such a popular man, but because the delegates were no doubt just tickled to death at the idea of getting home in time to vote.

While they were having a love feast in the convention hall Wednesday night, there was sorrow in the White House, and while today the democratic party is closing up its business of nominating candidates for president and vice president, a sympathetic people bow in sorrow with the nation's chief as the funeral of young Calvin Coolidge is being held.

Six feet in height, weight 180 pounds, straight as an arrow, handsome white haired, is the description of John W. Davis, the next president of the United States. With this description we can form a mental picture of the man who is to bear the democratic banner to victory. And we might recognize him even in a crowd. Why not always give a brief description of public men, then we could form some idea of how they look.

Clarence E. Gilmore has been besieged to run for Governor of Texas this year, but he said that he felt his duty was to be the best Railroad Commissioner he knew how to be; that he believed he could render the State more service on the Commission than elsewhere; and that he would therefore run for re-election to that office. He deserves the loyal support of every true Democrat in this county, and we hope that our county goes one hundred per cent for him. If seeing is believing, investigate his record.

Grasshopper Facts For The Farmer

By R. R. REPERT, Entomologist

By this time the damage from grasshoppers is diminishing, and by the end of July it will hardly be noticeable.

To reassure the farmers, the following facts are given:

After becoming mature about the end of June, the hoppers during August and September lay their eggs in solid soil, usually in sod land of pastures, along fence rows, or in the grass along creeks. One female will lay about 200 eggs. These pass through the winter and hatch in the spring, especially following a warm rain. They continue to hatch over a period of four to six weeks, but after these overwintering eggs hatch,

THERE'S ART IN BOBBING

It's no longer a question of snip, snip and it's off.

Particular women now demand that the hair which remains form a becoming frame for the face and gracefully outlined head.

That's where "art" comes in, for there are as many styles of bobs as there are bobbed haired girls and women. Each one is an individual problem of chin, eyes, nose and mouth.

Then there's the fashionable element—the smart touch which has always associated Paris with women's coiffures—

And the necessity of keeping the hair glossy, fluffy and clean.

All that fastidious women desire will be accomplished by a weekly visit and a small sum well spent at

MANY AMERICANS WILL GATHER AT DEDICATION MEMORIAL

WASHINGTON, July 10.—Many Americans will gather at Chateau Thierry to take part next Sunday, July 13, in the dedication of the Chateau Thierry Memorial Church erected by gifts from America. Nearly every part of the church and its fixtures have been given as a memorial by the families of men who lost their lives in the World War.

Among them is the lecture Bible given by Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, Sr. in memory of Quentin Roosevelt, who was shot down by a German airplane in the summer of 1918. She has written an inscription of her own for the inside cover of the Bible to be read when the church is dedicated.

The church itself has been given by the Reformed church in the United States as a memorial to the five hundred men of that communion who lost their lives in the war. It is a part of the whole program of aid to the French churches that has been carried on under the general auspices of the Federal Council of the churches of Christ in America.

The dedication has been arranged so that it would fit in with the tour of Europe by the Huguenot pilgrims from the United States. Many of the pilgrims will take part in the service, others visiting the places whence their ancestors came to settle in America two or three hundred years ago. The pilgrimage is part of the Huguenot-New Netherland Tercentenary celebration.

The National Service Commission of the Reformed Church had a balance when the armistice was signed. From it was purchased a plot of ground in the town square for $11,000. All the buildings on it were wrecked by German bombs. The castle is on the adjoining lot on the top of the hill back of the City Hall.

The church has cost about 1,000,000 francs. It was designed by Paul Cret, professor of Architecture at the University of Pennsylvania. Practically all the furniture has been given as individual memorials by members of the Reformed Church, though a few members of other churches have been allowed to participate.

The lecture upon which the Roosevelt Bible will rest has been given by the First Reformed Church of Lancaster, Pennsylvania. It is in the form of an angel carved in wood by Alois Lang. The pulpit is a joint memorial of the 22 chaplains of the United States Army who lost their lives in the war.

The Mercersburg Academy has given the bell in memory of the men of that institution who lost their lives. Memorials were also given by Franklin and Marshall College, Franklin and Marshall Academy, the Theological Seminary of the Reformed Church at Lancaster, Ursinus College, Heidelberg University, the Theological Seminary at Dayton, Ohio, and other schools.

The Rev. Gabriel Vernier, the pastor of the Chateau Thierry Reformed

Church, has visited the United States and is well known. The Rev. Dr. W. Stuart Cramer, executive secretary of the commission that erected the church, has been sent by his congregation in Lancaster, Pennsylvania, to dedicate it. He carried messages from President Coolidge, General Pershing, Chief of Chaplains of the Army John T. Axton and others, and a memorial silk flag from the city of Lancaster.

FAMOUS BANKER HAD HIS FORTUNE IN TAX EXEMPTS

"The banker, Jacob H. Schiff," says Collier's Weekly, "left an estate valued at nearly $85,000,000. The net taxable income from the whole of it worked out at scarcely 1 and one-half per cent per year. The bulk of his estate was in tax-exempt bonds, because the surtaxes on other investments would have left him a lower rate of return than did the bonds. Schiff was a business man. Tax schedules did not tax him, but only forced his money out of business uses into governmental uses. He had to invest his money not with those who built up industry but with those who spend the proceeds of State, city and national bond issues. The information contained in such wills as that of Jacob H. Schiff is disquieting to those who want to 'make the rich pay all the taxes.'"

When James J. Hill, famous railroad builder, died he left his widow an estate yielding $865,000 a year, but by the simple expedient of converting Hill's securities into tax-free bonds the widow's net income was raised to $730,000 a year. And the difference represented what the Government lost in taxes.

A man's enemies are few if his relatives all speak well of him.

SIX TOWNS CLAIM BIRTH- PLACE OF FAMOUS INDIAN

(By International News Service)
SYRACUSE, N. Y., July 9.—

Homer, whose birthplace is claimed by many cities, has an American parallel today in Red Jacket, orator and chief of the Wolf clan of the Seneca tribe of Iroquois, who is claimed as a native son by no less than six Central New York villages, including Canoga, which has the edge.

Red Jacket was born about 1757. In civil life his name was Ogetiani, meaning "Always Ready." On his elevation as chief in the ranks of the Senecas he received the name "Sagoyewah," meaning "He Keeps Them Awake," a designation, according to popular belief, having reference to his ability as an orator.

The name "Red Jacket" was given him during the American Revolution by the British army commanders, who furnished the chief with a number of bright red jackets to hold his friends.

At all times Red Jacket used his oratorical ability to prevent a reconciliation with the whites. He was among the 50 great Indians who accepted the invitation of President

Washington to attend a conference in Philadelphia in 1791.

HIGH COST OF EDUCATION FOR YEAR TWENTY-FOUR

AUSTIN, Texas, July 9.—"High School Costs in Texas in 1924" was the subject of a thesis recently presented for the master of arts degree at the University of Texas by A. W. Evans, of Austin. A survey of 390 senior high schools and twelve junior high schools was made by Mr. Evans, and the thesis was written on the cost per credit hour for each student in each subject, and a comparison was made for subjects and schools. The work was supervised by Dr. B. F.

Pittenger, acting dean of the school of education.

Vocational agriculture, manual training and home economics were found to be invariably the most costly subjects. English, history and mathematics are generally the least costly, and the other subjects maintain a general mediocre position. It was found that the ratio of cost between junior high school and senior high school was three to four and of elementary school to junior school two to three, so that the ratio between the three divisions of the school system as to cost is 2:3:4.

All People Do Not See Things Same Way

COLUMBUS, O., July 10.—Jazz isn't music!

But "Turkey in the Straw," "Swanee River" and "My Old Kentucky Home"—that selection represents music that is music.

In those few words, did A. T. Noe, 80 year old fiddler, sum up the qualities, good and bad, of the modernist melodies, as compared with the tunes that lightened the hearts of a generation or so ago.

And Noe's estimate of music is not to be dismissed without consideration. Only recently did he win the undisputed championship of Columbus and environs.

To be added to his titular dignity is his six-eight years of devotion to his violin, during which time he has seen hundreds of the so-called popular airs make their debut and then, after a brief existence, flit forever into obscurity. The aged violinist has heard them all, but he doesn't know any of the "hits" well enough to play them, he says.

Noe has his following in his interpretation of musical appreciation, and, although it may appear small when compared with the flocks of saxophone artists devotees, it is sufficiently large to demand consideration for its leader's judgment.

"He's been scraping the amalgamated and co-ordinated filaments from a horse's tail over the erstwhile cat's inwards for 68 years, and he should know what is really music," asserted one of Noe's followers, himself a member of the "younger set" but still well past the half century mark.

For all his mour-score years the veteran fiddler appears much younger than his age would indicate. He attributes his longevity to his love for his instrument.

"When things go wrong," said Noe, "I take down my fiddle and chase gloom into the background with 'An Irish Washerwoman's Dream' or some other old-time song."

What does the farmer think about dancing?

This question, among others pertaining to rural recreation, was submitted to a representation of agriculturists by students of country life at Ohio State University.

In districts where dancing was formerly frowned upon almost without exception, it was found that only about half the inhabitants now are definitely opposed to this form of recreation.

More precisely, 52 per cent of the farmers queried said they considered dancing sinful, while 19 per cent "guessed" it was all right and 29 per cent were in favor of it.

However, 68 per cent said the country needs no more play, that the nation already has a superabundance of recreation with so much work to be done.

According to P. G. Beck, who supervised the survey, one family even considered croquet sinful. The head of this house is said to have refused to make further contributions to the pastor's salary fund until the croquet wickets were removed from the churchyard.

HARVEST BULLETIN NO. 5

In Oklahoma and Texas, the harvest is practically ended. Both states have had an ample supply of labor. The only difficulty encountered in either state was in securing men for the extreme Northwestern sections, but the needs of the Panhandle of Texas and of the Northwestern counties of Oklahoma—Harper, Beaver, and Texas—were met. Owing to the extreme distances men had to travel, there was some delay in meeting the needs of Northwest Oklahoma, but it is believed that no loss to crops resulted.

The harvest in Kansas is nearing completion with plenty of men in the state to meet all labor requirements. The demand for harvest hands for Kansas has been greater than in any recent year and a much larger number of men have been recruited and brought into the state than were required last year. A larger territory was demanding men than usual at the same time. In sixteen counties in Central Kansas, representing 8,000,000 acres of wheat, the harvest was on full blast and calls came in simultaneously for thousands of men.

Oklahoma's harvest was retarded and due to heavy crops and excessive heat an unusually large number of men were required in that state. Releases were slow in starting and there were a few days when it was not possible to fully meet the needs of certain big wheat counties, but the men were forthcoming, and on this date it is believed that all of the Central third of Kansas and the heavy counties of the Southwestern half of the state have their labor needs provided for. Although in some sections harvesting was done short-handed for a few days, reports do not indicate any damage to grain through lack of labor. The drift from the South and West should be ample to care for the harvest labor needs of the Central-western and Northwestern counties of the state.

The 14,000,000 acres of wheat in Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas have in round numbers required 60,000 outside harvest hands. To recruit these men and to get them to the places needed at the times when needed with as little congestion as possible at distributing points, has been no little task. This service appreciates the co-operation it has received from all sources and particularly the consideration and understanding of those County Agents, Chambers of Commerce, bankers, business men and farmers in the wheat sections who have been sharing with us the responsibility of the harvest.

The next field of activity is the state of Nebraska, where the harvest is beginning to get under headway. Requests have already come to the Kansas City office from Kansas counties for instructions as to points

GUSHERS WIN THRILLER

TEMPLE, Texas, July 10.—The Gushers won a thrilling 17-inning hurling duel here this afternoon by a score of 3 to 1. Pipkin allowed but two hits until two men were out in the ninth and then walked Fowlkes, who scored from first on Seely's two-base hit to the right field fence. Rich booted Royster's ground ball in the final inning and after Fowlkes and Seely had both gone out Jones hit a home run over the left field fence. The Surgeons got 11 of their hits in the first nine innings and in the seventh filled the bases with no one out but Geppert, whose fielding was sensational, kept them from scoring by cutting down two runners at the plate. He also robbed McElwee of a hit that would have scored two runners in the fourth.

Tradition Busted
By Investigation

HOUSTON, Texas, July 10.—Tradition has long named a log shack on the old Andrews place, now Prairie avenue and Austin streets, where President Sam Houston first did his official business. An inquiry conducted by the chamber of commerce revealed, however, that the best authentic "original executive mansion" of the Republic was a store building on the corner of Main and Preston Avenue, present site of the Scanlon building.

The investigation was in response to a request for pictures to be used in an American history to be published by Brown Brothers, New York. A picture was finally found in the possession of Geo. Beach, photographer. It was a story and a half clapboard building, bearing the sign "H. H. Dooley & Co., Hatters." It was in this building that Sam Houston had his official residence during 1836 and 1837.

JUDGE HARP RETURNS FROM OVER THERE

Mrs. R. E. Hickman has just received a wire from her sister, Mrs. D. Leon Harp, stating that while in Paris doctors advised Mr. Harp to return to America at once and go to some quiet place and rest until he fully recovers his health. They arrived in New York last Saturday, but where they will go has not yet been decided. The many friends of Judge Harp in Mexia hope for his speedy recovery.

ALABAMA BOUND!

Just for a change here are a few lines from a Mexiaite who shipped out early Sunday morning and spent the night with parents in Midlothian, Texas, who with two other families, joined us on our trip to Alabama.

We have in our party three autos and twelve people, and we left Midlothian, Texas, this morning (July 7th) and are now in Texarkana, Tex. Monday evening, 6 p. m.

We found the roads fine by way of Dallas, Garland, Greenville, Sulphur Springs, Mt. Vernon and Mt. Pleasant. This far we have enjoyed ourselves fine. Have not even had a puncture, and for the night we are in an enclosed camp ground where we have city water, electric lights and gas stoves to cook with, also a private room all screened in with bed at small cost. Gee, but this beats work, so far as pleasure is concerned.

I'll try and tell you a little about Arkansas tomorrow.

Yours very truly,
A. M. Wesson.

WATCHING THE SCOREBOARD

Yesterday's hero—Johnny Mostil of the White Sox. He busted out two homered homers as his team nosed out the world champions, 8 to 6.

The Red Sox won both ends of a double-header from St. Louis, 5-1 and 5-0.

Cleveland beat Baumgartner and Rommel and took both games of their double bill with the Athletics, 2-1 and 6-3.

The league-leading Senators increased their advantage over the Yanks to a game and a half by breaking even with Detroit, losing 5-2 and winning 4-2.

The Braves slammed three Pirate bats for a 6 to 3 victory.

The Reds rallied in the eighth, scored five runs on seven hits and beat the Phillies, 6 to 3.

UNITED STATES TIRES ARE GOOD TIRES

Scene on a United States Rubber Company Plantation in the Far East. After the rubber trees are tapped the latex is brought in cans to these Field Stations and weighed.

The Beginning of Better Tire Service

WHEN the U. S. Rubber Engineers discovered that raw rubber latex in its natural state was a better tire material than the old bulk form of crude rubber it marked the beginning of better tire service.

U. S. Royal Cords built of cords solutioned in raw rubber latex have now been in use over three years. These tires have shown remarkable strength and wearing quality.

The use of latex in tire building is commercially possible because of three things:

- 1—The processes and equipment for using latex developed by the United States Rubber Company.
- 2—The discovery of a method of shipping latex to this country by the U. S. Rubber Engineers.
- 3—The development of the U. S. Rubber Plantation in the Far East providing an unfailing source of supply of latex of a peculiarly uniform quality especially adapted for tire building.

The latex treatment is particularly valuable in the building of low air-pressure flexible-wall Balloon and Balloon-Type Tires.
